CENTENNIAL ALMANAC FOR 1885.

VENUS IS THE RULING PLANET THIS YEAR.

THE YEAR IN GENERAL.—Will be rather dry, taking the whole year together; it will also be sultry and tolerably warm.

SPRING.—If the solar year continues warm and pleasant till late, there will be a late Spring, generally temperate, and is favorable to all kinds of grain. When the winter grain is forward and large, the sheep may be pastured on it without injury; they may also be kept on the meadows longer than other years.

SUMMER.—If the Spring rains do not continue too long, there will be a warm, sultry summer, as it generally is; if, however, there is much rain in the spring, there will be a dry, hot summer, which, however, is not often the case. In this case there will be good vintage; otherwise there is danger that much hay and grain will spoil on the fields.

FALL.—This season is generally warm and pleasant, but will not last long; hence the necessity of attending early to the fall work. Winter-grain should be sown early, the grape vines covered, and winter fruit secured, as generally by the end of November, Winter will set in.

WINTER.—In the commencement is tolerably dry; afterwards, especially from about the 12th of February, to the beginning of Spring, quite wet, very heavy showers, which often prove injurious to persons, buildings, and cattle.

CULTIVATION OF SUMMER GRAIN.—When the Spring is wet, and there are rains almost every day, the grain should be put out as early as possible, as there will be a dry, hot Summer, without rain for several weeks.

CULTIVATION OF WINTER GRAIN.—Be the year as it will, the corn and wheat will seldom produce much besides straw, unless the grain is pastured down in the Spring.

AUTUMN SEEDING.—Winter Grain should be sown in good time on account of the early winter which will follow.

FRUIT.—If it is very wet in the Spring, there will be very little of any kind of fruit. If it is about usually temperate, there will be plenty of apples, plums, nuts, cherries, pears and acorns.

TO OUR PATRONS.

 And a merry good year!
 And a joy for each day the year has in it;
 And a smile to beguile
 All sorrow the while,
 And the love of all, with the gift to win it!

—Sigourney.

As we look around us we behold the mountains and hills changed from their deep summer green to the beautiful autumnal tints, which, though lovely to behold, remind us that time has been passing, and that the close of another year is approaching; and

"Like as the waves make toward the pebbled shore,
 So have our minutes hastened to their end."

We are not thus only reminded of the passing of time, but also of its value, and the importance of spending it aright. Franklin says, "If time be of all things the most precious, wasting time must be the greatest prodigality, since lost time is never found again; and what we call time enough always proves little enough." Could we realize time in all its worth, every moment would be grasped as a most precious jewell, and none would be wasted in a way that is worse than loss. But as that which is past cannot be recalled, the best we can do is to improve the present and hope and prepare for the future. To this we now look

The year that will soon close has been one fraught with unusual blessings. Especially can this be said of our own native land. We have enjoyed more than an ordinary fruitful season so that there is no necessity for any real want or suffering for the necessities of physical life. Our barns and store-houses are filled with provisions, which can be had by all for a reasonable amount of labor or compensation. We have not been visited by any general scourges, in the way of fatal diseases, and we have most graciously been spared from internal irruptions which lead to war and misery. For all these blessings we are indebted to our indulgent and gracious Father in heaven.

Our spiritual blessings have also been correspondingly great, and elicit from us our most heartfelt gratitude. Considering the importance of the work and what ought to have been done, we have reason to hide our faces in the dust. But comparing the past with the present, we are still encouraged that so much progress has been made in the good work, and that we have been trying to go forward.

As the year advances we hope that many of you may have the satisfaction of feeling that you have made some advancement in the Divine life, and that you can retrospect the past with the assurance that you have done, at least, something that will stand to your credit in the day of reckoning, and that you may open this new almanac with the determination, that, by God's grace, the year 1885 shall be, by you, more fully devoted to the promotion of your own spiritual good as well as trying to assist others to a better life.

In compiling the Brethren's Almanac for 1885 we have no marked changes to make, but shall try and adapt it as nearly as we can to the wants of our Brotherhood and all others that may desire a good Christian Family Almanac. Thanking all for the liberal patronage received in the past and asking the same for the present, we close by wishing to one and all heaven's choicest blessings.

OUR ANNUAL ADDRESS.

Again we come brother pilgrim! And how happy we are to be permitted once more to enter your opened door and take the accustomed place in your family circle. Since our last visit, a year has gone and another come and with the passing of time, many of those who lived and enjoyed with us, have gone to fairer climes and more enjoyable scenes.

Old 1884, with his tottering steps and threadbare garments, has fallen the victim of time, while thousands of our fellow brethren have been numbered with the nations of the dead. They have gone, gone, O, where? To reap the fruit of their labors whether good or bad, and we are left for what? To prepare for a better life, and now is the time.

May you, dear pilgrim, make this, the commencement of another year, a bright page in your history; a time that you can point back to with pleasure as the commencement of a higher Christian life, and may you go forward with renewed zeal and courage.

And to you dear sinners who are without the fold, there will never be a better time to make the all important step to enter the vineyard of the Lord than now. Time is short and those who are given most have none to spare. O, waste not the golden moments. They are too precious. Eternal issues hinge upon them, and if gone unimproved they are lost forever.

And now may the God of love and mercy be with us and grant to us a year of plenty, a year of prosperity, a year of health and peace, and a year of grace and salvation.

During the year that has passed, business engagements have held the minds of many in suspense. Some have gained their points and are satisfied, while others, in their own estimation, have miserably failed, and feel that their labors have been spent in vain. Yet time rolls on and those who would redeem the past and make amends, and gain the crown must look forward, and now is a suitable time to lay our plans for future operations. First of all, if not already done so, seek the Kingdom of God. With this and the promised blessings to be added, there is nothing to hinder and our life work will prove a success—And may the face of our beneficent Father smile upon us during the year 1885, so that when it, too, shall have passed away we may enjoy the blessed assurance that it was well spent and that we may enjoy the fruits of our labors.

THE MOST ANCIENT MANUSCRIPTS.

The style of writing indicates the age of manuscripts. Recently, certain manuscripts recovered from the ruins of Herculaneum have been unrolled and deciphered with the utmost care, and fifteen folio volumes of them have been published. Now we know that Herculaneum and Pompeii were overwhelmed in the year A. D. 79, by an eruption of Vesuvius; and hence there can be no dispute in regard to the age of the manuscripts rescued from these ruins. They must be more than 1800 years old. But these manuscripts are written in "uncial" letters, very nearly resembling the letters used in those manuscript copies of the New Testament which have been universally esteemed the most ancient. This style of letters has not been used for many centuries; hence the antiquity of these manuscripts is proved beyond a possibility of dispute.

Among the "uncial" manuscripts, five are generally distinguished from the rest as of primary importance. Of these, the Alexandrian,—known as Codex A, was originally discovered at Alexandria, and was sent to King Charles I., in 1628, seventeen years after King James' version was printed. It is now in the British Museum. The style of the letters indicates that this manuscript is of great antiquity, and its date is fixed by critics at about A. D. 450. It is much mutilated,—twenty-four chapters of the first Gospel, two of the fourth, and eight of one of the Epistles being missing.

Codex B, in the Vatican Library at Rome, supposed to have been written between A. D. 500 and A. D. 400, is said to be the oldest vellum manuscript known. This was not allowed to be copied till 1868, when an edition was issued in fac simile type, representing it line for line, and letter for letter. The condition of this is much more perfect.

A third manuscript is in the National Library at Paris, whither it was brought by Catherine de Medeci. This is called a "palimpsest;" from a Greek word which signifies to rub or scrape again,—applied to a parchment from which one writing had been erased to make room for another. This manuscript is known as the "Codex Ephræmi." Parchment being scarce and valuable, in the twelfth century the original writing was sponged off, and some productions of Ephræm Syrus written in its stead. Notwithstanding this, by the careful application of chemicals the earlier writing has been brought out again, so that the original manuscript has now been deciphered. This manuscript is assigned to the early part of the fifth century.

The fourth manuscript is Codex Bezae in the Public Library of the University at Cambridge, England, it having been presented by Theodore Beza in 1581. This is the least valuable, as it is quite incomplete. It belongs to the sixth century.

The Codex Aleph, found Feb. 4th, 1859, in the Convent of St. Catherine near Mt. Sinai, by Tischendorf, and published by him in 1862, is the most valuable of the five, as it contains the New Testament complete. This is judged to have been written between A. D. 300 and A. D. 400; and hundreds of corrections which critics had previously made in the text by comparing other manuscripts, have been confirmed by this ancient and independent witness, which had lain for ages in the library of that eastern monastery.

To these may be added, as specially valuable, Codex Claromontanus, of the sixth century, which contains the Epistles of Paul. This was used by Beza in 1582, and is deposited in the National Library at Paris.

These manuscripts carry us back very near the apostles' days; for they might easily have been copied from the originals, or from manuscripts that had been copied from them; and by comparing these with the hundreds of other manuscripts, Lectionaries, quotations, and ancient translations, it is not difficult for learned and studious men to ascertain whether the New Testament Books have been seriously corrupted in being handed down to our own times. Of course any corruptions or mistakes which have occurred during the last 1500 years are excluded at the outset by the fact that we have manuscripts that date back as far as that; and if these manuscripts, old as they are, have errors, they also may, in rare instances, be corrected from later manuscripts which may have been copied from manuscripts older than any which are yet discovered.—H. L. Hastings.

HUMAN SYMPATHY.

Blessed indeed are those who have love as the guardian angel surrounding them, and whose days are rendered happy, whose skies are full of sunshine, because of the sympathetic companionship of the loved and loving. In the midst of their own heart-safety such may be reminded that they should be pitiful to those who are desolate and alone, whether they have made shipwreck for themselves or been struck by the storms of fate, or—worst of all—abandoned by those who were pledged to guard, to guide, and to protect.

A MOTHER'S LOVE.

A mother's love! How lightly do we often value and little do we appreciate a kind, loving mother! What a fountain of pure unselfish loves rises up from her generous, loving heart! Who will love us as a mother does? And will suffer, work, and toil for us, depriving themselves of every comfort, in order that we may be well cared for and spared all anxieties and cares of life? No one but "mother." We may have a kind father, gentle and loving brothers and sisters, and, when we grow older, and leave the paternal roof, we may be fortunate in securing a kind husband or gentle wife, and may be blessed with dutiful and happy children; but no one will ever exercise toward us the same kind, patient love and gentle forbearance as a mother. How kind we should be to her! We should share her anxieties, lighten the burden of her cares, and strive to make the burden of her declining years happy. It is a debt, as well as a duty, we owe to her, and it is happily in the power of all to pay it. Think of the many days of weary toil and the years of unselfish love and patient devotion she has given to us, and then let us ask ourselves if we can do too much for "mother."

MAN.

Man is a creature put into this life to be awakened and educated with reference to himself and to his fellows. He is put here to be educated through the body and through matter into ascendancy over them, and to be educated respecting his character, for the sake of his condition hereafter. In order therefore to judge of what is good and what is bad, and among bad things what are worse and what are better, and among good things what are best and what are least good, we must consider the relation of things to the design and destiny of human existence. That which tends to make the most of a man, and to make him quickest in the things for which he was created, and which is most efficient in preparing him for harmonization in himself and social harmonization, and for immortality and glory, is the best; whereas that which most stands in the way of these things is the worst—but nothing is indifferent which has a bearing on man's development for time and for eternity.

CONJECTURES OF THE WEATHER.

1st, 2d, 3d mild; 4th, 5th snow; 6th, 7th, 8th N. W., cold; 9th, 10th moderate; 11th, 12th cloudy; 13th, 14th, 15th rain or snow; 16th, 17th, 18th clear; 19th, 20th cold; 21st, 22d, 23d fair; 24th, 25th cloudy; 26th, 27th rain; 28th, 29th, 30th clear; 31st storm.

TWENTY-FIVE USEFUL HINTS.

1. Plenty of fresh air, fresh water, wholesome food, and regular hours for meals, will do wonders in keeping a home healthy and happy.

2. Rub your stove pipe with linseed oil, keep in a dry place, and it will not rust.

3. Wash whitewashed walls with vinegar to make paper stick.

4. Add a little alum to paste to hasten drying.

5. Use white oil cloth, bound with red, back of kitchen table, wash-stands, and under hooks to hang tin.

6. Salts of lemon will take stains from ivory knives.

7. Camphor will prevent moths; the gum near your silver will keep it bright.

8. Wormwood or pennyroyal will drive out ants.

9. Drooping house plants will revive if sprinkled with camphor water.

10. One teaspoonful of chloride of lime, in the three quarts of water, will take stains from white goods. Rats and mice avoid chloride of lime.

11. Vinegar will remove lime from carpets.

12. In dusting use a cloth; feathers only set it aloft.

13. Tobacco tea will kill worms in flower-pots, and is also good for the plants.

14. Quassia in sweetened water will destroy flies.

15. Saltpetre and olive oil will cure corns.

16. Four cups meal, two cups flour, one cup molasses, and three of sour milk, make excellent Indian bread.

17. For damp closets or cellars, put shallow dishes of unslacked lime, and change often.

18. Hold your broom upright; do not dig, but brush lightly. Carpet and broom will last twice as long.

19. Sweep with broom slightly damp.

20. Do not tack your bed-room carpets down, but take up and shake often.

21. Let sunshine in all rooms; it is better than medicine.

22. If a spider or dish gets burnt in using, do not scrape it, but put a little water and ashes in, and let it get warm; it will come off nicely.

23. Paint a lantern globe and varnish, lay on transfer pictures to set on your brackets. Serve tin plates the same way for card receivers. Quite handsome.

24. Be true to yourself, your family, and the outside world.

25. Wash your windows with a wing instead of a cloth, and look out on a clean, well-kept yard.

A CURIOUS LEGEND.

When Adam was far advanced in years and near the point of death, he sent his son to the angel Michael, who kept the gate of Paradise, to pray for the oil of mercy, so that he could be healed. The angel answered that it could not be until fifty-five hundred years, but he gave Seth a branch of the tree of which Adam had eaten, bidding him plant it on Mount Lebanon, and when it bore fruit his father should be healed. Seth planted the branch on his father's grave; it took root and grew, and from it were made Aaron's rod and Moses' staff, with which he struck the rock and sweetened the waters of Marah. It also formed the pole on which the brazen serpent was lifted up. At last it came into the hands of Solomon, who used it in building his palace; but it continually resisted the efforts of the builders to adjust it. Now it was too long, and then again too short. The builders becoming angry they threw it into a marsh, so that it might serve as a bridge. The Queen of Sheba would not walk upon it, and then told Solomon that upon it should be suspended the men through whose death the Kingdom should be destroyed. Solomon then had it buried deep in the ground where the pool of Bethesda was dug, and from the virtues of this tree healing properties were imparted to the waters. After it had been buried three hundred years it arose on the surface of the water, and the Jews took it and made of it the cross of our Saviour.

GOODNESS.

Nothing makes a man so in love with purity as purity. Many a man has been lifted out of debasing sins against which he has vainly struggled by coming to know and love a pure, sweet woman. It is the sight of embodied goodness that makes us want to be good. Many a mother by the quiet usefulness of her life fills her children with a desire to be like her, that makes them in their turn unselfish. There are obscure men and women who hardly in their lives utter a conscious word of teaching, who, by their example, do more to make people around them gentle and truthful and Christ-like than any preacher can do. It is not those who talk about goodness, but those who are good that are the light of the world.

USELESS DAUGHTERS.

The poorest girls in the world are those who have never been taught to work. There are thousands of them. Rich parents have petted them; they have been taught to despise labor and depend upon others for a living, and are perfectly helpless. The most forlorn woman belongs to this class. It is the duty of parents to protect their daughters from this deplorable condition. They do them a great wrong if they neglect it. Every daughter should be taught to earn her own living. The rich as well as the poor require this training. The wheel of fortune rolls swiftly round—the rich are likely to become poor, and the poor rich. Skill added to labor is no disadvantage to the rich, and is indispensable to the poor. Well-to-do parents must educate their daughters to work; no reform is more imperative than this.

GOLDEN MOMENTS.

How sorry one would be for a man who, starting out upon a journey, had his pockets full of golden coin which, one by one, had slipped through some unattended hole or rent, so that when he came to the end of his trip he had not one left, but lay down upon his bed a beggar! How strictly we would look to our own pockets after hearing the tale, and make very sure that what coin we had should be well spent, or hoarded carefully, and not scattered in the road-side dust! Yet we start upon our lives, each one of us, with a store of golden moments of which we keep little account. Rapidly they slip away through the rents of sloth or ignorance. Many a one, rich in all the golden moments of seventy years, lies down at last scarcely able to remember how he has frittered and scattered them, knowing only that he has no more—that all are gone, and that he cannot say that he has purchased anything of use to himself or another with what might have bought so much.

A CHEERFUL WIFE.

What a blessing to a household is a merry, cheerful woman—one whose spirits are not affected by wet days or little disappointments—one whose milk of human kindness does not grow sour in the sunshine of prosperity! Such a woman, in the darkest hours, brightens the house like a piece of sunshiny weather. The magnetism of her smiles and the electrical brightness of her looks and movements infect every one. The children go to school with the sense of something great to be achieved; the husband goes into the world in a conqueror's spirit. No matter how people annoy and worry him through the day, far off her presence shines, and he whispers to himself, "At home I shall find rest!" So day by day she literally renews his strength and energy. And, if you know a man with a beaming face, a kind heart, and a prosperous business, in nine cases out of ten you will find he has a wife of this kind.

WORTH REMEMBERING.—It is not what we earn, but what we can save, that makes us rich. It is not what we eat, but what we digest, that makes us fat. It is not what we read, but what we remember, that makes us learned. All this is very simple, but it is worth remembering.

CHARACTER.

The character is formed by the personal habits of daily life as much as by the thoughts and principles inculcated. The careless and unmethodical in action will scarcely be the accurate observer, the correct reporter, the reliable authority, or the steadfast supporter in other matters. The loose ends of daily habits repeat themselves in the character; the graver virtues than the prosaic qualities of method, order, regularity and the like follow on those habits of forethought and observation which older people try so hard to inculcate in the younger, and the younger try so hard not to learn. Also no one can exaggerate the importance of daily combatting the sins and frailties that most easily beset us. To give way to-day to a fit of inconsiderate selfishness, unfounded suspicion, irrational anger, or careless self-indulgence makes control all the harder to-morrow, and the folly committed now all the easier to repeat then. The character is not formed by great leaps, by one strong impression, by a few striking experiences, but by small repeated touches, by the constant rippling of daily thoughts, the minute shaping of daily habits.

He that injures another injures himself more—not in his outward estate, it may be, but in his inward manhood. He who by carelessness, by heedlessness, or by hopefulness, defrauds another by borrowing what he cannot pay, defrauds himself even more that he does that other. He may not diminish his own material possessions as he does those of his neighbor, but he diminishes the moral elements that are in him, and reduces that stock by which he is to enjoy old age in this life and Heaven in the life to come.

THE BRIGHT SIDE.

Look on the bright side. It is the right side. The times be may hard, but it will make them no easier to wear a gloomy and sad countenance. It is the sunshine, and not the cloud, that gives beauty to the flower. There is always before or around us that which should cheer and fill the heart with warmth and gladness. The sky is blue ten times where it is black once. You have troubles, it may be. So have others. None are free from them—and perhaps it is as well that none should be. They give sinew and tone to life—fortitude and courage to man. That would be a dull sea, and the sailor would never acquire skill, where there is nothing to disturb its surface. It is the duty of every one to extract all the happiness and enjoyment he can from within and without him; and, above all, he should look on the bright side. What though things do look a little dark? The lane will have a turning, and night will end in broad day. In the long run the great balance rights itself. What appears ill becomes well—that which appears wrong, right.

FIRST STEP.

There is no step so long as the first step in any direction, especially a wrong one. Having once taken it, you are very likely to go farther. One who steals a penny will remember it when he thinks of stealing a sovereign. If he steals the sovereign first, when he is tempted by thousands he will remember he is already a thief. A perfectly innocent person dreads the soil of any sin upon his soul, but after the slightest smirch he cannot say, "I am clean." The vulgar proverb, "One might as well be hung for a sheep as for a lamb," means a great deal. Often the lamb was stolen years before, and now why not take the sheep? An idle word, half-oath, half-exclamation, leads the boy to swearing. Once having sworn, he will swear again. The first step may not be much in itself, but in its relation to our lives it is a giant's stride. It is well to remember it.

Reading is well compared to filling a granary with grain, and thinking to sowing seed. We should read, not to contradict or confute, but to weigh and consider. Meditation is active; reverie, idle thought.

SATURN is in Conjunction with the Sun the 18th, and cannot be seen.

CONJECTURES OF THE WEATHER.

1st, 2d, 3d fair; 4th, 5th, 6th variable; 7th, 8th rain; 9th, 10th, 11th showers; 12th, 13th, 14th warm; 15th, 16th, 17th thundershowers; 18th, 19th, 20th clear; 21st, 22d cloudy; 23d, 24th, 25th fair; 26th, 27th, 28th warm; 29th, 30th showers.

SMALL THINGS.

Neglect of small things is the rock on which the great majority of the human race have split. Human life consists of a succession of small events, each of which is comparatively unimportant, and yet the happiness and success of every man depends upon the manner in which these small events are dealt with. Character is built up on little things—little things well and honorably transacted. The success of a man in business depends on his attention to little things. The comfort of a household is the result of small things well arranged and duly provided for. Good government can only be accomplished in the same way—by well regulated provisions for the doing of small things.

TO BE REMEMBERED.

That salt fish are quickest and best freshened by soaking in sour milk.

That cold rain water and soap will remove machine grease from washable fabrics.

That fish may be sealed much easier by first dipping them into boiling water for a minute.

That fresh meat, beginning to sour, will sweeten if placed out of doors in the cool air over night.

That milk which has been changed may be sweetened or rendered fit for use again by stirring in a little soda.

That boiling starch is much improved by the addition of sperm, or salt, or both, or a little gum arabic, dissolved.

That a tablespoonful of turpentine, boiled with your white clothes, will greatly aid the whitening process.

That clear boiling water will remove tea stains; pour the water through the stain, and thus prevent it spreading.

That salt will curdle new milk; hence, in preparing milk porridge, gravies, etc., the salt should not be added until the dish is prepared.

That kerosene will make your tea-kettle as bright as new. Saturate a woolen rag and rub with it. It will remove stains from the clean varnished furniture.

That beeswax and salt will make your rusty flatirons as clean and smooth as glass. Tie a lump of beeswax in a rag and keep it for that purpose. When the irons are hot, rub with the wax rag, then scour them with a paper or cloth sprinkled with salt.

TEMPER.

A cheerful temper in a house is like perpetual sunshine, gladdening and enlivening every one, in the presence of which you forget your troubles and would be ashamed to remember your annoyances; but a bad temper spoils everything. Offence taken at airy nothings, impatience under unavoidable worries, small things made into great ones by the magnifying power of suspicion, sullenness, irritability, ill-humor—who can say that all this has no influence? You might as well deny the stinging power of a midge or the penetrating power of dust as deny the depressing effect of ill-humor wherever it is found and the corresponding good influence of sweet temper. Also, the imitation of either the one or the other, as it may chance which rules, is sure to break out in the younger and weaker of the family.

In the book of the vanished years:

Dare we again, with its joys and fears,

Recall that begone age?

Nay! for we hope that in future days,

However bright the past,

Each hour may prove brighter, and every year

Be happier than the last.

Regret for misdeeds may come o'er us,

Grief for the good not done;

But we trust in the time still before us,

In the years that are still to run.

Let your thoughts be fit and suitable for the subject. Every day have higher thoughts of God, lower thoughts of self, kinder thoughts of your brethren, and more hopeful thoughts of all around you.

 QUERIES FOR CHRISTIAN PARENTS.

1. Do you say grace at the table?
2. Do you have family worship daily, reading the Scriptures and praying?
3. Do you teach your children, as soon as they are teachable, to pray daily, on arising in the morning, as well as on retiring at night?
4. Do you either take or send your children to Sabbath-school?
5. Do you require them to go to hear the preaching of the Word?
6. Are you as careful of their spiritual and religious training as of their physical and mental?
7. In a word, are you training your children to God and eternity?
8. You ought to be able to answer "yes" to each of these questions. Will you not ask God to bless and help you to do your duty towards the souls He has committed to your care?

 WHAT TO DO IN AN EMERGENCY.

WOUNDS.—Close a wound quickly, and apply adhesive plaster; if it bleeds to freely, apply a compress over it, with bandage; if this fails, tie a bandage tight around the limb, above the wound.

FAINTING.—Place the patient on the back, with the head lower than the body, if convenient. Give plenty of air by fanning; dash cold water in the face; smell of hartshorn or camphor. Give ammonia or spirits.

POISON.—If poison of any kind has been taken into the stomach, an emetic should be given as quickly as possible. Mustard and warm water, or salt and warm water, or ipecac, are effectual. Of the latter, give sixty grains. If vomiting, drink freely of warm water or warm milk, until the stomach is thoroughly washed out.

BURNS.—If clothing takes fire, the person should be thrown to the ground or floor, and without delay rolled in the carpet or hearth-rug to stifle the flames. If no carpet or hearth-rug is at hand, use your coat instead. Keep the flames from the face and lungs as much as possible. You can generally accomplish this by beginning to wrap about the neck and shoulders first.

EYES.—If particles of cinder or dust get into the eyes, they can generally be removed by holding a knitting-needle or a small stick over the upper lid, close to or under the edge of the orbit; then, holding it firmly, gently turn the lid upward and backward over the needle or stick. If the eye-ball is moved by the sufferer, the substance is revealed, and can be removed by the corner of a silk or linen handkerchief.

DROWNING.—As soon as the body is recovered, it should be stripped of all clothing, rapidly dried, placed on a bed previously warmed, the head, neck and shoulders raised a little, friction with the dry hands used to the extremities, and heated flannels applied to the rest of the body. To restore breathing, place the person flat on the face, press gently on the back, then turn the body on its side or a little beyond; then turn again on the face, press again on the back, and turn again on the side. This should be done about sixteen times in a minute.

 HOUSEKEEPERS' WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

Two gills make half a pint.

Two pints make one quart.

Four quarts make one gallon.

Half a gallon is a quarter of a peck.

Two gallons make one peck.

Four gallons make half a bushel.

Eight gallons make one bushel.

About sixty drops of any thin liquid will fill a common-sized teaspoon.

Four tablespoons, or one-half a gill, will fill a common-sized wine-glass.

Four wine-glasses will fill half a pint measure, a common tumbler, or a large coffee-cup.

Ten eggs usually weigh one pound before they are broken.

A tablespoonful of salt weighs one ounce.

IMPRESSIONS OF A DAY.

That was noble advice which the novelist Charles Kingsley gave when he said, "Try, if u can, not to pass a day without either reading a beautiful poem, or hearing a beautiful ng, or seeing a beautiful picture." We vent-e to think this may yet be improved upon, e it relates to the culture of self and our re- pective faculties. But it is more blessed to ve than to receive. So we would say, let us ; not to pass a day without doing some beau- ful deed of love, however humble; without ying some beautiful word of kindness, how- er quiet or unostentatious; or without show- g others the beautiful picture of consistent aracter. So we shall be writing poems for od, not only reading men's poems; compos- g songs for angels, not only hearing for our eature; and painting pictures for eternity, t merely contemplating the fading pictures t time.

HEALTH SUGGESTIONS.

To have good health, avoid excesses; be gular in the time of eating, sleeping, and thing. See that your dwellings, and par- ularly your sleeping apartments, are proper- ventilated; avoid exposure to the night air, so excessive nervous or muscular effort.

A dark house, wherever found, is always an healthy one, and more likely a dirty one, too. ant of light discourages growth, promotes rofula, encourages consumption, and, in fact, erything which is bad. Light is second in portance to fresh air.

Do not eat breakfast immediately after ris- g; the stomach is in no condition to receive od. Let the breakfast and supper be light, serving strong food, as meats, etc., for the middle of the day. Eat slowly, and masticate thoroughly. Drink very little fluid during meals. If taken an hour after meals, they assist digestion.

In hot weather, when a person is heated, cold water should only be taken in small quantities at a time. If taken in quantity, prostration is likely to ensue, and if not, it lays the foundation for other troubles. When the body is heated or exhausted, a bath of cold water ought never to be taken. A sponge bath in tepid water will answer until the vigor of the body has had time to be restored.

THE SECRET OF HAPPINESS.

One of my neighbors in town and church is an old lady, whose dress is of a style belong- ing to no period of fashion. I wonder, some- times, if for forty years the cost of it has ex- ceeded as many dollars. Her step is as light as a girl's, her manner bright and cheery, and over her otherwise homely face spreads the glow of a heart at peace with God. Her youth was spent in a struggle for daily bread and scarcely was this pressure removed before she was called upon to mourn the loss of first one and then another loved member of her family, until she had outlived every relative. Her home is plain, almost bare of the luxuries con- sidered as indispensable to comfort, yet there is not one from whom I so much enjoy a visit as this solitary woman, ever so warm in greet- ing, so cheerfully companionable

"There is so much heart's-ease about you," I once said to her, "that it refreshes me to meet you. Why, you are the youngest and happiest person I have seen to-day!"

"Oh, yes," she replied, smiling, "I have stopped growing old, for each day brings me nearer the the possession of endless youth, in my better home. And how can I be sad in this beautiful world where my Heavenly Fa- ther has placed me?"

"Still you have seen your full share of trials and sorrows."

"Yes, I have surely passed through the val- ley of Baca, but through the grace of God I have been able to make it a well. But, my friend," she continued, "I have been happy only since I ceased to strain after what was beyond my reach, and resolved no longer to hug to my bosom my griefs and disappoint- ments, but to take them all to God, and leave them with Him, and content to be what He wishes, and only that."

ITEMS ABOUT THE PRESIDENTS.

President Arthur was 53 years old on his birthday. He was born October 5th, 1830.

President Hayes was born October 4th,
2. The only other President born in October was John Adams, who was born on the h, and was 62 years old when he was inaugurated.

Garfield, Pierce and Polk were born in November; Andrew Jackson and Martin Van Buren in December; Millard Fillmore in January; Abraham Lincoln, William H. Harrison and George Washington in February; Jackson, Tyler and Madison in March; Grant,
B. Franklin, Monroe and Jefferson in April; John Quincy Adams in July, Zachary Taylor in September.

As to deaths—Garfield in September; Johnson, Van Buren, Taylor, Monroe, Jefferson and Martin Van Buren in July; Buchanan, Polk, Jackson and Madison in June; Pierce in October, Fillmore in March, Tyler in January, John Quincy Adams in February, and George Washington in December.

Grant was our youngest President having been 47 years old at the time he was inaugurated. Franklin Pierce came next at the age of 49. Then came Garfield, Fillmore and Polk, each 50. Then Tyler and Arthur, both 51 years old, and both Vice-President, succeeding to the Presidency by the deaths of Presidents. Lincoln was 52 years old when inaugurated; James Madison, 54; Hayes and Van Buren, 55; Andrew Johnson, 57; Monroe, Jefferson and John Quincy Adams, 58; George Washington, 59; Andrew Jackson, 62; Zachary Taylor, 63; John Adams, 65; James Buchanan, 66, and William H. Harrison, 68.

Of these men Garfield, Grant, Pierce, Taylor, Polk, Harrison, Jackson and Washington bore the title of general and had military reputations. All of them had been in the government employ in some capacity before their nomination, and some, such as Van Buren, Jefferson, Monroe and the two Adamses, had years of training in the cabinets preceding them.

John Quincy Adams received a salary from the United States Government for 69 years, and the sum total must have amount to $500,- 000. At the close of his Presidential term, he had had 52 years of office holding, and his salary had aggregated $425,000; still, he had 17 years of Congress after this, and died at the Capitol at a Congressional session. At the age of 14, he went to Russia as the private secretary of the American Legation, and he was in after years Minister to England, Germany, Portugal, Russia, and the Netherlands.

SUNSHINE IN THE HOME.

We built a house not long ago with some forty or more windows in it, but we placed no blinds within or without the windows. We believe that sunshine within the home is at once a help to the body, and a constant inspiration to the soul. Let us have light, and let us have it abundantly.

A friend complained to us the other day of wakefulness and weariness. We had occasion to look into the apartment where so many weary wakeful hours were passed. We found the room dark as a sepulchre. Windows and blinds were closely closed. The air was malodorous and musty. We urged the thorough ventilation and illumination of that chamber. The benefits of the change were immediately perceived. Let us have sunshine in our homes, even though the roses on the carpet fade. It is easier to replace them than to paint again
the lily and the rose upon the face.—Dio Lewis.

A HINT TO YOUNG MEN.

Nothing in the long run can be more unsatisfactory in your lady friend than mere good looks. Unless she possesses something more, her fair face is likely to become unfair a little after thirty. Then the disappointment will be complete—I mean if your investment is made in a stock of "good looks." Better a thousand times that your choice should be a woman with a broken nose, but with a head full of common-sense, and a heart full of good things.
